Exercise of discretion

The TPB will consider the appropriateness of exercising its discretion in relation to this item on a case-by-case basis, having regard to the purpose of the TAsA and the role of recognised professional associations (RPAs) under the TAsR, as well as the following non-exhaustive list of considerations:

- extent to which the association meets the requirements under the eligibility item
- purpose and utility of the association's recognition
- consumer protection benefits and/or risks of continuing recognition
- accreditation type(s) of the RPA and whether there is any utility in having multiple recognitions with the TPB.

If the association does not satisfy the minimum requirement and is seeking the TPB to exercise its discretion, it is recommended that the submission provided to the TPB addresses the above considerations and any other matters that are relevant to the TPB's consideration of whether it is appropriate to exercise discretion.

For further information on the considerations the TPB would take into account in exercising its discretion, refer to the TPB Information Sheet TPB\(I\) 35/2020: Recognised professional associations - Exercise of the TPB's discretion regarding specific requirements for recognition under the Tax Agent Services Regulations 2009.

Exercise of discretion

If your association does not meet the minimum requirements, provide further details in the space provided below, including the reasons why it is appropriate for the organisation to be recognised by the TPB if you do not expect to satisfy this item. The TPB will consider the appropriateness of exercising its discretion in relation to this item on a case-by-case basis, having regard to the following non-exhaustive list of considerations:

- extent to which the association meets the requirements in the item
- any amendments or proposed amendments to relevant association rules
- purpose and utility of the association's recognition
- consumer protection benefits and/or risks of continuing recognition
- accreditation type(s) of the RPA and whether there is any utility in having multiple recognitions with the TPB.

If your association is seeking to have the TPB exercise its discretion, it is recommended that the submission provided to the TPB addresses the above considerations and any other matters that are relevant to the TPB's consideration of whether it is appropriate to exercise its discretion.

For further information on the considerations the TPB would take into account in exercising its discretion, refer to the TPB Information Sheet TPB\(I\) 35/2020: Recognised professional associations - Exercise of the TPB's discretion regarding specific requirements for recognition under the Tax Agent Services Regulations 2009.
