1. Introduction

The Government's regulation reform agenda introduced a new Regulator Performance Framework (Framework) to help measure the performance of regulators and to reduce the burden of regulation on the community. The Government has developed the Framework to measure and test the performance of regulators with six outcome-based Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) of best practice, performance and administration. Such measures, along with public reporting are intended to give business, stakeholders, the community and individuals confidence that regulators effectively and flexibly manage risk in the work they perform.

The Framework seeks to facilitate performance assessment by; ensuring accountability, being transparent, flexible and cost-effective; and complement, rather than duplicate, other processes. Regulators are required to work in consultation with their agreed stakeholders and report annually on their performance against the six KPI's. The Tax Practitioner Board (TPB) has received approval to have the TPB consultative forum externally validate its metrics to measure and assess performance against the six KPIs. The TPB, in consultation with the consultative forum have developed a range of metrics against each of the KPIs before publishing them on the TPB website.

Six Key Performance Indicators
KPI 1	Regulators do not unnecessarily impede the efficient operation of regulated entities.
KPI 2	Communication with regulated entities is clear, targeted and effective.
KPI 3	Actions undertaken by regulators are proportionate to the risk being managed.
KPI 4	Compliance and monitoring approaches are streamlined and coordinated.
KPI 5	Regulators are open and transparent in their dealings with regulated entities.
KPI 6	Regulators actively contribute to the continuous improvement of regulatory frameworks.

2. Self-assessment

This reports sets out TPB's 2016-17 self-assessment against the Framework. To support the TPB's annual self-assessment, the TPB has consulted with its consultative forum to validate its performance and its conclusions are reasonable and objective.

This self-assessment report provides an overall summary and conclusion on the TPB's performance against the Framework and the six KPIs outlined in the Framework. This report provides an overall summary on areas the TPB is working well on and areas of risk to the TPB. This is then followed by a separate summary and conclusion for each of the six KPIs in providing an objective assessment of how the TPB has performed against each of the KPIs. Information and evidence to support our metrics is contained in our Corporate Plan 2016-17, Annual Report 2016-17 and the associated Annual Performance Statement.

3. Summary of assessment

In the overall assessment against the KPIs, the TPB is on track to show continuous improvement in enhancing the regulatory environment for registered tax practitioners across Australia. The TPB has demonstrated continuing drive to be consultative and interactive with key stakeholders and registered practitioners, and have made it a priority to better communicate and help practitioners comply with their obligations. The TPB continues with efforts to guide, and support new and existing registered practitioners to ensure they provide highly competent services to their clients.

The TPB does this through a variety of channels, including; publishing our eNews newsletters, new and updated guidance material on the TPB website, TPB Twitter feed, the use of LinkedIn, and TPB YouTube videos. The TPB also conducts regular consultative forum meetings with professional associations as a primary consultative mechanism to ensure their views are taken into account in our decision making process. The TPB also puts a high priority on public and practitioner awareness programs, including presenting at numerous engagements and conferences, and hosting webinars throughout the year.

The TPB considers the outcomes and results from its innovative and proactive approach to communications and engagement strategies provides strong support to the tax practitioner community and key stakeholders, and demonstrates TPB's commitment in these areas.

The TPB has experienced significant growth in the registered practitioner population in 2016-17 due to the influx of registration applications by tax (financial) advisers. The large increase in registered practitioners and the external budgetary constraints have provided a challenging environment for the TPB to operate in and meet its statutory obligations.

With these challenges in mind, the TPB has continued to focus its efforts on streamlining the tax practitioner registration system, effectively administering the Tax Agent Services Act 2009 (TASA) and upholding the tax profession's integrity. The TPB aims to simplify processes for registered tax practitioners and those looking to register, and to protect the interests of the consumers who use the services of tax practitioners.

Operational strategies have been deployed including the introduction of a new tax (financial) advisers registration team which includes key client managers who are working closely with Australian financial services (AFS) licensees to enable notifier authorised representative renewals can be lodged via a bulk process.

The TPB have set a range of service standards ensuring its focus on streamlining efforts in areas such as registrations processing, to provide the best possible outcome for tax practitioners who want their applications processed in the quickest and simplest possible way.

3.1 Continual improvement

The TPB will continue to rationalise and upgrade its enabling infrastructure, as well as work with government partners to find efficiencies. The TPB continues to work on streamlining processes and coordinating resources to meet service delivery obligations demonstrated by the strong uptake of the annual declaration program and the integration of tax (financial) advisers into the regulatory regime.

This is an area of key improvement for the TPB, with the focus on continuous improvement in working with all stakeholders and government partners in enhancing the regulatory environment for registered tax practitioners.

4. Summary against the KPI's

4.1 - KPI 1 Regulators do not unnecessarily impede the efficient operation of regulated entities

The TPB directly engages with professional practitioner associations to help facilitate the efficient operation of registered tax practitioners. The TPB informs them of our processes and provides them with opportunities to have input into the TPB's service delivery and operations.

The TPB's consultative forum meetings with recognised professional associations are the primary consultative mechanism used to ensure their views are taken into account in the TPB decision making process. The TPB conducts regular consultative forum meetings with the tax and BAS agent recognised professional associations, and with the recognised tax (financial) advisers professional associations to help facilitate dialogue on topics that are relevant to tax practitioners registration, obligations and industry concerns.

To further consolidate this process, communiques are sent to the association representatives after forum meetings and are also published on the TPB website. Topics discussed at these forums include:

- registration and compliance updates
- communication activities
- policy updates.

To further assist the efficient operation of registered tax practitioners, the TPB publishes policy guidance material in the form of; explanatory papers, guidelines and information sheets. All proposed policy material is issued as public exposure drafts as a means of seeking industry and public feedback. These public exposure drafts are first issued to the consultative forum members for their feedback, before being issued seeking public feedback.

The TPB considers the use of consultative forums as a key reference point for gathering industry feedback on our draft policy guidance material as a highly effective process in helping form our policy positions. We have received favourable feedback from forum members on their inclusion in our feedback processes.

Although there has been a small decrease in service standards, this occurred within the context of a large increase in the volume of work for the TPB. The TPB continues to invest in strategies to influence these results and reduce delays for practitioners. In 2016-17, this included the introduction of key client managers to provide a tailored advice service to AFS Licensees. These key client managers have also been involved in driving a bulk renewal process for a significant number of authorised representatives of these AFS Licensees.

The TPB considers it has performed well for this KPI with a dedicated approach to engagement with all key stakeholders and processes to receive feedback from them. The achievements in this area have enabled the TPB to positively interact with stakeholders and respond to their requirements in providing professional tax practitioners services for all consumers.

4.2 - KPI 2 Communication with regulated entities is clear, targeted and effective

The TPB communication strategy involves engaging directly with key stakeholders and raising its profile. Board members and senior staff regularly participate in conferences, speaking events and webinars. The TPB continues to increase its extensive use of social and digital media channels to communicate with registered tax practitioners with the use of; Twitter feed, the LinkedIn company page and instructional videos available on YouTube.

The TPB website includes policy guidance (explanatory papers, guidelines and information sheets) to help tax practitioners understand and comply with their obligations. Proposed policy material is issued as public exposure draft guidance material to seek feedback from professional associations, tax practitioners and consumers, which is taken into account in the TPB decision making process before finalised material is made available on the website.

The range of metrics used for this KPI demonstrate how we communicate and engage with stakeholders in the publication of guidance and explanatory material and highlights the efforts we use to support the tax practitioner community, such as;

- TPB's eNews newsletters are emailed to registered tax practitioners and subscribers, and made available on the website, with five tax and BAS agent editions, and six tax (financial) advisers editions being distributed during the year
- TPB produced YouTube instructional videos providing a range of helpful items for tax practitioners, such as; registration requirements for tax (financial) advisers and information supporting the BAS agent renewal process. The TPB published 15 new videos during 2016-17 and there are 40 videos available on the TPB YouTube channel
- The TPB webinar program delivered 23 webinar sessions during the year covering topics of interest to tax practitioners from; key obligations relating to registration to the TPB's approach to regulation
- Speaking events organised by professional associations and the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) where TPB Chair and Board members deliver sessions
- TPB Outreach sessions where practitioners have the opportunity to hear updates from TPB Board members and have the opportunity to ask questions and seek clarification on issues
- Targeted tax (financial) adviser communications products regarding registration requirements and the renewal process.

The TPB consider this and the other communication and engagement strategies to be highly effective in providing the support and assistance required for tax practitioners. The TPB considers its performance to be strong against this KPI and will continue to enhance and adapt methods of communications to better meet the needs of registered tax practitioners.

The TPB understands the constraints many registered practitioners face and believe the use of social and digital media provides an interactive approach to providing topics and information of relevance to tax practitioners in being able to better understand and meet their obligations. The TPB will continue to explore and work on new ways to enhance the use of social and digital media to make it easier for practitioners to view and use information.

4.3 - KPI 3 Actions undertaken by regulators are proportionate to the risk being managed

The TPB's compliance strategy is risk-based; compliance work and resources focused on issues where there is the greatest risk of harm to specific taxpayers and to the community. The strategy ensures that sanctions imposed are in line with the seriousness of any possible breaches.

This risk-based approach is the best use of the TPB's resources and avoids unnecessary impacts on responsible tax practitioners who seek to comply with the Code of Professional Conduct and other obligations. The TPB will also seek where appropriate, civil penalty orders against registered tax practitioners, as well as entities who should but do not register with the TPB.

The TPB continues to work with the tax profession, professional bodies and the ATO to raise the profile of tax practitioners and the value they bring to taxation compliance. This is demonstrated through the metrics used in this report. In doing this, the TPB seeks to ensure that tax practitioners, who exhibit behaviours of concern to the community, are risk assessed and that targeted activities are actioned.

An important aspect of the TPB's compliance functions is to ensure that tax practitioners are aware of and understand their obligations and is highlighted by:

- The TPB Corporate Plan details the strategic risk based approach to compliance work, and also details key performance and service standards to assist in measuring the timeliness of compliance work
- The TPB publishes key compliance results every quarter on its website and is an important measure in managing expectations for tax practitioners
- The TPB provides updated compliance information at the consultative forums, including; TPB Operations monthly report containing compliance details and updates to the TPB Summary of penalties, sanctions and terminations report, which demonstrates our compliance work in upholding professional integrity to these key industry stakeholders
- The TPB website provides tax practitioners with relevant information about their obligations and facilitates appropriate behaviour aligned with TPB's objectives and it continues to attract large number of visits.

The TPB puts a high priority on supporting tax practitioners to understand and comply with their obligations under the TASA and considers this to be an area that can continue to be built on and support the tax practitioner community. The TPB views its performance against this KPI to be strong and will continue to work with all key stakeholders to strengthen the activities to manage and support the tax practitioner community in meeting their regulatory obligations.

The level of stakeholder engagement and compliance information provided actively assists registered tax practitioners in understanding their compliance obligations. This is an area that TPB will continue to work on with all stakeholders to seek improvements in how to manage complaint handling and compliance work and assist the tax practitioners.

4.4 - KPI 4 Compliance and monitoring approaches are streamlined and coordinated

The TPB compliance and monitoring approaches are streamlined and coordinated through the coordinated activities of our independent Board members who participate in our operational committees and ensure a nationally consistent approach is taken to all registration and compliance outcomes.

The metrics used for this KPI highlight the coordinated national approach TPB's compliance committees take when considering the matters they are deciding upon for the most appropriate outcome or sanction. This nationally coordinated approach also allows for the most efficient processes to be deployed and allows for additional streamlining of compliance work, as committee members have an end to end view of the TPB's compliance work.

The TPB promotes and facilitates relationships with other Commonwealth regulators, particularly the ATO and the Australian Securities and Investment Commission (ASIC), to ensure a more streamlined and coordinated approach to issues of mutual interest. This extends to timely exchanges of information (where permitted) for matters of co-regulation, areas of shared risks and compliance referrals. The TPB coordinates this by regular liaison meetings with these regulators and particularly works closely with the ATO on compliance matters they have referred to us.

The TPB's implementation of the annual declaration program for registered tax and BAS agents in 2016 ensures an annual interaction with registered tax practitioners with a streamlined approach for tax practitioners to meet their ongoing registration requirements. The annual declaration form is an easy-to-complete online form that takes on average less than five minutes to complete. Each tax and BAS agent will be required to complete an annual declaration each year, except in their renewal year. The annual declaration is due on the anniversary of their renewal.

During 2016-17 over 36,000 annual declarations were lodged with almost 100 per cent of tax practitioners who were required to lodge having done so. Improving the integrity of the tax practitioner profession as tax practitioners can ensure they have current information recorded with the TPB (professional indemnity insurance, compliance with personal tax obligations and whether they satisfy the Board's fitness and propriety requirements) in an easy to complete online form.

The concept and design of the annual declaration form was done in a coordinated manner with information provided to, and feedback received from the consultative forums. Feedback received from the consultative forums was supportive of this new annual declaration process.

The TPB has expanded this program of work and tax (financial) advisers will be required to lodge annual declaration forms from August 2017. The TPB will continue to make improvements to work processes to better support registered tax practitioners, subject to budgetary constraints.

The TPB continues to work on its compliance and monitoring approaches to ensure they are as streamlined and coordinated as possible. The TPB are on track to meet this performance indicator and the TPB considers it has performed strongly in the streamlining and coordinating of this work.

4.5 - KPI 5 Regulators are open and transparent in their dealings with regulated entities

The TPB uses an extensive range of communications channels to actively engage and inform key stakeholders, registered tax practitioners and consumers to ensure we are open and transparent in dealings with regulated entities. The metrics used for this KPI outline a range of channels used with registered tax practitioners to assist and guide them in their dealings with the TPB and understand their ongoing registration obligations.

The TPB provide a range of different methods to deliver this information including:

- The TPB Corporate Plan and the TPB Annual Report which both provide details on the strategic direction, new programs of work, our roles, functions, performance and achievements
- The TPB website which is the main channel for communicating with tax practitioners and the public. All other communication channels refer to the website as the key source of information as the TPB works to make sure the website is as clear, accessible and information is as easy to locate as possible
- The TPB presented at 61 external speaking events last year across Australia, including; professional association conferences, universities, TAFE's and at ATO Open forum events
- TPB conducts regular webinars that practitioners can register for, and these webinars count towards required CPE hours
- TPB distributes eNews with separate editions for tax and BAS agents, and tax (financial) advisers. There were 11 editions distributed last year, with five editions for tax and BAS and six for tax (financial) advisers.

The TPB is committed to consulting and working with key stakeholders and registered tax practitioners, ensuring their experiences and industry knowledge help inform the TPB in its decision making and operations. This is a key theme in the communication program in helping to support registered tax practitioners. The TPB publishes guidance material and information sheets which are freely available to all interested parties.

The TPB continues to identify new and innovative ways to improve the presentation of easily accessible online content to help and support our registered tax practitioners. The TPB broadcast its first live-streamed event: 'Everything you need to know about your tax (financial) adviser registration', to over 700 financial planners and advisers Australia wide. This event was followed by answers to questions sent by participants during the sessions.

The TPB considers its performance against the KPI to be strong due to the engagement processes with all key stakeholders and the extensive communication channels to inform the tax practitioner community and consumers.

4.6 - KPI 6 Regulators actively contribute to the continuous improvement of regulatory frameworks

The TPB continues to focus its efforts on streamlining the tax practitioner registration system, effectively administering the TASA and upholding the tax profession's integrity. In everything we do, we aim to simplify processes for registered tax practitioners and those looking to register, and to protect the interests of the consumers who engage the services of tax practitioners.

The TPB continue to work with the professional associations to ensure focus on streamlining efforts in areas such as registrations processing, so that TPB can achieve the best possible outcome for tax practitioners who want their applications processed in the quickest and simplest possible way. The TPB have put considerable effort into setting up new and more streamlined process for tax practitioners to log in online and update their records. The use of the new annual declaration form which assists tax practitioners to provide TPB with up to date information in an easy-to-use online form.

The TPB have worked extensively with key stakeholders in the financial planning industry to raise awareness of this new regulatory arrangement for tax (financial) advisers, including the ASIC and professional associations.

Due to the importance of supporting tax (financial) advisers, the TPB has consulted closely with the financial planning profession and practitioners and has;

- released a number of exposure drafts information sheets seeking feedback on registration and renewal requirements and obligations
- conducted a number of consultative forums for tax (financial) adviser associations and other stakeholders during the year
- liaised and worked with the ASIC to increase awareness of this new regulatory arrangement
- conducted webinars, eNews, news articles and media releases specifically tailored for tax (financial) advisers.

Since the new tax (financial) advisers arrangements became operative, the TPB has seen approximately 19,000 tax (financial) advisers register under the notification stage. These tax (financial) advisers will be due to submit their first renewal application between July 2017 and January 2018 to demonstrate they met the standard registration requirements. This work will add additional strain to TPB's ability to meet this workload under the current resourcing constraints. To deliver efficiency in this process, the TPB has developed streamlined processes for reviewing and approving applications and implemented a bulk renewal process for the authorised representatives of a number of AFS Licensees.

The TPB will continue to actively seek ways to improve its work processes in assisting registered practitioners with their registration obligations and will continue to consult widely with all key stakeholders for their feedback and suggestions. The TPB considers this an important function and is very proactive in seeking continuous improvements of its regulatory framework. The TPB considers its performance against this KPI to be strong as the TPB continue to develop new and enhanced processes to integrate new programs of work into current work environment.

The TPB is aware of the impact of new programs on existing ongoing requirements and will continue to find innovative ways to manage this work. The TPB continue to work with the ATO and other government partners in finding new work capabilities.

KPI 2 - COMMUNICATION WITH REGULATED ENTITIES IS CLEAR, TARGETED AND EFFECTIVE

Measures	Metric	2015-16	2016-17
